Observational Notes of a
Person's Senses Through the Seasons, Pt. I

When you walk out, you can see the ground and the leaves.

That's one big deal.

Things start growing out.

Spring smells like the fresh new scent of flowers, grass, and tress.

You don't get that in the wintertime.

Observational Notes of a
Person's Senses Through the Seasons, Pt. II

When the wind blows, you can get an idea of what's going on.

The wind will bring the sun to you,
And the smells of fires that travel through the air.
You start getting different kinds of food cooked outside.

Food tastes better outside.

It goes through your nose,
And you get a better taste of what the food is.

It goes right through you.

By changing the season,
You can get a better meal.

You hear the movement of cars revving their motors,
their motorcycles

Traffic moves quicker without snow and ice.

The windows are open to get the sounds better.

The sound of the trees is a visual.

The leaves blow and the branches bend and crack.

You hear things rolling on the ground.

You gotta have the wind to whip them up.

How to Greet Someone You Love

I saw a doctor friend of mine who came to visit.

We hadn't seen each other in years.

He just put his arms around me.

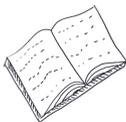

Hey listen, I miss ya, and I hope we can talk.

A Place that Calms Me

Some people lay down and rest,
But I get calmed by music.
Music is a wonderful thing you can use to rest.
I'm a jazz guy.
You listen to how the guy plays
And your mind floats
You just sit there, and you sit there.
And it feels so nice.

Planning the Path to Success

The best advice would be to try to do your homework

Before you get into any situation.

Know your situation.

Know what you're getting into.

Know what you're planning.

THAT will protect you.

You'll be able to make a more educated decision.

It might fortify you to move forward

Or not.

Try to do your homework.

That's one thing that could help.

Tele-Stories Reflections

"Bob, I know you have a lot going on right now, so I'm especially grateful that you took time to talk with me and share your stories. And what stories they were! I felt like I was listening to a movie pitch! Your creativity, compassion, and energy were invigorating and inspiring!" -Christina
